DETAILED ACTION

1. This communication is in response to Applicant's RCE filed on 10/31/2007.
2. Claims 1-11, 40, 41, 46, 47, 52-77, 98, and 100-118 remain pending.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

4. Claims 1-11, 40, 41, 46, 47, 52-77, 98, and 100-118 are rejected under 35 U.S.C 102 (e) as being anticipated by Levchin et al (U.S. Pg Pub No. 2006/0253340).

As per claims 1 discloses a first terminal that is a vending machine connecting to the communication network (network 102) and having an information indicating unit, a second terminal (client computer 122a, digital assistance 122b, wireless telephone, 122c) that is at least one of a cellular telephone and a PDA and having a unique ID information (electronic mail address, telephone number, IP address etc.), an antenna and an input unit, said second terminal being connectable to said first terminal through the communication network with said antenna, and a transaction apparatus communicating with said first and second terminals through the communication network (network 120), said transaction apparatus storing said unique ID information of said second terminal in advance, said transaction apparatus setting up and sending a transaction ID (transaction identifier) information to said first terminal, said transaction apparatus receiving from said second terminal said unique ID information of said second terminal together with said transaction ID information, said transaction apparatus performing the transaction by synchronizing (synchronization server 106)a communication with said first terminal and said second terminal when said unique ID information received from said second terminal is identical with that stored in said transaction apparatus in advance previously (see., figs 1 and 2, [0007]- [0009], [0021], [0022], and [0029]-[0041]).

Applicant's newly added limitation wherein said first and said second terminals send and receive messages via the transaction apparatus during synchronizing is also disclosed by Levchin in paragraph [009], [0033], [0040], [0057], specifically synchronization server 106 for exchanging transaction details with user's devices.

As per claims 2-11, 40, 41, 46, 47, 52-77, 98 and 100-118, they are not substantially different than the limitations of claim 1. In fact, they do not further limit the scope of the invention and all their limitations are taught by Levchin. Therefore, they are rejected under the same 35 USC 102 rationale as claim1.

RESPONSE TO ARGUMENTS

5. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-11, 40, 41, 46, 47, 52-77, 98, and 100-118 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

6. Claims 1-11, 40, 41, 46, 47, 52-77, 98, and 100-118 are rejected under 35 U.S.C 102 (e) as being anticipated by Levchin et al (60/131,785).

As per claim 1 discloses a first terminal that is a vending machine connecting to the communication network and having an information indicating unit, a second terminal that is at least one of a cellular telephone and a PDA and having a unique ID information, an antenna and an input unit, said second terminal being connectable to said first terminal through the communication network with said antenna, and a transaction apparatus communicating with said first and second terminals through the communication network, said transaction apparatus storing said unique ID information of said second terminal in advance, said transaction apparatus setting up and sending a transaction ID information to said first terminal, said transaction apparatus receiving from said second terminal said unique ID information of said second terminal together with said transaction ID information, said transaction apparatus performing the transaction by synchronizing a communication with said first terminal and said second terminal when said unique ID information received from said second terminal is identical with that stored in said transaction apparatus in advance previously (see., figs 1-9, pages 1-4).

Applicant's newly added limitation wherein said first and said second terminals send and receive messages via the transaction apparatus during synchronizing is also disclosed by Levchin in paragraph [009], [0033], [0040], [0057], specifically synchronization server 106 for exchanging transaction details with user's devices.

As per claims 2-11, 40, 41, 46, 47, 52-77, 98 and 100-118, they are not substantially different than the limitations of claim 1. In fact, they do not further limit the scope of the invention and all their limitations are taught by Levchin. Therefore, they are rejected under the same 35 USC 102 rationale as claim 1.

7. Claims 1-11, 40, 41, 46, 47, 52-77, 98, and 100-118 are rejected under 35 U.S.C 102 (e) as being anticipated by Levchin et al (60/144,633).

As per claim 1 discloses a first terminal that is a vending machine connecting to the communication network and having an information indicating unit, a second terminal that is at least one of a cellular telephone and a PDA and having a unique ID information, an antenna and an input unit, said second terminal being connectable to said first terminal through the communication network with said antenna, and a transaction apparatus communicating with said first and second terminals through the communication network, said transaction apparatus storing said unique ID information of said second terminal in advance, said transaction apparatus setting up and sending a transaction ID information to said first terminal, said transaction apparatus receiving from said second terminal said unique ID information of said second terminal together with said transaction ID information, said transaction apparatus performing the transaction by synchronizing a communication with said first terminal and said second terminal when said unique ID information received from said second terminal is identical with that stored in said transaction apparatus in advance previously (see., figs 1-9, pages 1-5).

Applicant's newly added limitation wherein said first and said second terminals send and receive messages via the transaction apparatus during synchronizing is also disclosed by Levchin in paragraph [009], [0033], [0040], [0057], specifically synchronization server 106 for exchanging transaction details with user's devices.

As per claims 2-11, 40, 41, 46, 47, 52-77, 98 and 100-118, they are not substantially different than the limitations of claim 1. In fact, they do not further limit the scope of the invention and all their limitations are taught by Levchin. Therefore, they are rejected under the same 35 USC 102 rationale as claim 1.
